BULLDOGS SEEK SIXTH STRAIGHT WIN

RUSTON — After dropping the season opener against Texas A&M, the Louisiana Tech men's basketball team has reeled off five wins in ten days and go for the sixth Wednesday night versus Southeastern Louisiana at 7 p.m. inside the Thomas Assembly Center.

The Bulldogs will also aim to continue their non-conference home winning streak which sits at 22 games inside the friendly confines of the TAC. To do so, head coach Michael White said the team still needs to improve on the offensive end while maintaining their intensity on the defensive end.

"We are still a work in progress offensively, but our progress defensively is encouraging," said White. "We continue to have good practices, and our guys have accepted what our weaknesses are and strive for improvement daily."

WEST SCORES 16 IN NSU'S LOSS TO A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Texas —

Northwestern State freshman guard Jalan West, a former Bossier star, scored 16 points in the Demons' 78-65 loss to Texas A&M Monday night.

NSU (3-2) came into the contest averaging 94 points but made just two of its first 15 shots while falling behind 15-6. The Aggies (5-1) led 38-28 at halftime and surged up by 23 with six minutes remaining before the Demons made a closing run.

Shamir Davis topped Northwestern with 18 points and DeQuan Hicks added 12. NSU did have a season-low 13 turnovers and blocked nine shots while sinking 82 percent (18-22) on the free throw line. Rebounding was even at 37-37.

TECH QB WINS SAMMY BAUGH AWARD

Louisiana Tech quarterback Colby Cameron has been named the winner of the prestigious Sammy Baugh Award presented to college football's top passer by The Touchdown Club of Columbus, Ohio.

The trophy was first presented in 1959 and has been held by legendary passers including Steve Young, John Elway, Bob Griese and last year's winner Case Keenum of Houston. Cameron is the first Bulldog honored by the TDC since Troy Edwards won the Paul Warfield Award in 1998.
